WHY DOCTORS FAIL AND MRS. PINKHAM SUCCEEDS

Plain Reasons Are Here Given to Explain Why Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Cures When Doctors Are Powerless

A woman is sick; some disease peculiar to her sex is fast developing in her system. She goes to her family physician and tells him a story, but not the whole

She holds something back, loses her read, becomes agitated, forgets what he wants to say, and finally conceals what she ought to have told, and thus completely mystifies the doctor.

Is it any wonder, therefore, that the loctors fall to cure the disease? Still we cannot blame the woman, for it is ery embarrassing to detail some of the ymptoms of her suffering, even to her amily physician.

It was for this reason that years ago Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., de ermined to step in and help her sex. Having had considerable experience in reating female ills with her Vegetable ompound, she encouraged the women of America to write to her for advice in egard to their complaints, and being a soman, it was easy for her ailing sisers to pour into her ears every detail of their suffering.

In this way she was able to do for hem what the physicians were unable a do, simply because she had the proper information to work upon, and rom the little group of women who ought ber advice years ago a great army of her fellow-beings are to-day onstantly applying for advice and re-ief, and the fact that many thou-ands of them have been cured by ollowing the advice of Mrs. Pinkham luring the last year is indicative of the grand results which are produced by ier unequaled experience and training.

No physician in the world has had such a training, or has such an amount f information at hand to assist in the reatment of all kinds of female ills, rom the simplest local irritation to he most complicated womb diseases. This, therefore, is the reason why Mrs. Pinkham, in her laboratory at Lynn, Mass., is able to do more for the siling women of America than the amily physician. Any woman, there-fore, is responsible for her own suffering who will not take the trouble to write to Mrs. Pinkham for advice.

The testimonials which we are constantly publishing from grateful women establish beyond a doubt the power of Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound to conquer female diseases.
